FIBBER MC GEE AND MOLLY PROGRAM

Radio Program Log 1935 - 1959

Marian and Jim Jordan are best remembered as the comical couple Fibber McGee and Molly. Married in real life, they shared the microphone for thirty-three years in a wide assortment of program titles and types. In their first decade, over the air waves traveled their songs and antics beginning in 1924 as THE JORDANS, MARIAN AND JIM. Then in 1925 they started their first sponsored program titled THE O'HENRY TWINS. Over the following ten years they continued in radio with AIR SCOUTS, SMITH FAMILY, MARQUETTE, MR. TWISTER (Jim only), FARMER RUSK, BREAKFAST CLUB, SATURDAY NIGHT JUBILEE, several short series, KALTENMEYER'S KINDERGARTEN, and SMACKOUT. Out of these series developed these two characters that would delight Americans and Canadians for the next twenty-four years.

Until the onset of Fibber McGee and Molly, Marian and Jim had performed as contracted employees for several independent and network stations in the Chicago area. Most programs were sustained (carried without sponsorship), but the Fibber program would be supported by Johnson's Wax. It premiered in New York on Tuesday, 10 pm over WJZ and temporarily ran there for six weeks. The seventh broadcast returned them to WMAQ Chicago and they remained there nearly continuously for the next three and one-half years before moving permanently to KFI in Hollywood.

A few observations about program content should be noted here. In the first nineteen shows, Fibber & Molly played two auto gypsies whose wanderings about the country gave Fibber "a store of tall stories which would sham Baron Munchausen and make Paul Bunyan look like a piker."* On the twentieth (August 26, 1935), the McGees rolled into Wistful Vista where Fibber invested his last $2.00 in a house raffle, which luckily moved them into their permanent abode, #79 Wistful Vista. The program was to be based at this familiar address hereon.

For fifteen years S. C. Johnson & Son carried this thirty minute delight ending with the 1949 - 1950 broadcasting season. Pet Milk assumed the financial responsibility for the next two years, with Reynolds Aluminum picking up the tab of Fibber McGee and Molly in its last year of thirty minute shows. On June 30, 1953, Marian and Jim bowed to their last live audience with program #739.

* "Chicago Daily News", May 3, 1935, radio page

In October of that year the program was reduced to a fifteen minute, five day a week pre-recorded format, without the benefit of an audience. It was supported by a large number of sponsors over the three year run. General Mills, Miles Laboratories, RCA, Brown and Williamson, Lewis-Howe, and Paper Mate carried most of the programming.

Phil Leslie, Ralph Goodman, Joel Kane, and Leonard Levinson scripted all the programs finishing on Friday, March 23, 1956 with program #1381. While many of the favorite supporting cast left FM&M in the last weeks of the thirty minute series (Gale Dordon, Kings Men, Harlow Wilcox), some continued into the new fifteen minute programs (Bill Thompson, Arthur Q. Bryan, Mary Jane Craft, Elvia Allman, Jess Kirkpatrick and Shirley Mitchell) and others joined the cast occasionally (Bill Conrad, Parley Baer, Tyler McVey and Marvin Miller). Many others participated over this next three years as radio audiences and sponsorship increasingly switched to support television comedy and drama.

The Jordans thought they had returned in 1956 but fourteen months later NBC rehired them making Fibber McGee and Molly a feature of Weekend Monitor. Tom Koch wrote all 226 - five part per day scripts taped in Hollywood and broadcast each Saturday and Sunday from New York. August 2, 1959 saw the very last first-run broadcast of the Fibber McGee and Molly Program. Marian and Jim worked alone without benefit of supporting cast until several of the last weekends in July and August when one person playing a "man" gave them assistance. Only Cliff Thorsness was with the Jordans at Radio Recorders as their regular soundman.

Fortunately for their fans, approximately 550 (34%) of the 1,609 Fibber McGee and Molly Programs have survived as disc and tape recordings, and all but approximately forty-eight programs have survived in script form.

All this makes it possible for future generations to intimately hear, know, and love Fibber McGee and Molly.

For eighteen years and three months the Fibber McGee and Molly Program was aired in a thirty minute time frame. Only on four occasions were the programs serialized, in the sense that two or more shows had a continuing story line. That characteristic was to be changed by Phil Leslie (writer) beginning in the fall of 1953 when frequently the story line would now be carried over two to twelve episodes; occasionally this story line was interrupted for a broadcast day or two by a single episode script; the episodic story line was resumed the following day. Often this was done to carry the serialized theme over the weekend, obviously an effort to draw the listener back to the program after the weekend break.

NOTES ON THE FOLLOWING FIFTEEN MINUTE PORTION OF THIS FIBBER MCGEE & MOLLY LOG

For eighteen years and three months the Fibber McGee and Molly Program was aired in a thirty minute time frame.

Only on four occasions were the programs serialized, in the sense that two or more shows had a continuing story line. That characteristic was to be changed by Phil Leslie (writer) beginning in the fall of 1953 when frequently the story line would now be carried over two to twelve episodes; occasionally this story line was interrupted for a broadcast day or two by a single episode script; the episodic story line was resumed the following day. Often this was done to carry the serialized theme over the weekend, obviously an effort to draw the listener back to the program after the weekend break.

In order to depict the chronology of this serialization, vertical lines have been drawn to the right of the program titles. Arrows are used on the inside ends of these lines where the story line was interrupted by a single episode of a different story line, or where the story line continues on following page. To the right is an example.

Researcher's Notes on the following section of the Fibber McGee & Molly Log

Up to this point this Fibber McGee and Molly log has been a precise document. Scripts had dates of broadcast assigned to them, and nearly half of these first 1381 programs also survived as recordings. In this next portion the log becomes less dependable as an exact account of what was aired on specific days. Known are the premiere and exact broadcast dates, and each date is numbered. But unknown are the exact days each script was broadcast. No recordings of the NBC Monitor FM & M Programs are known to survive, and NBC authorities claim that recordings no longer exist.

Writer Tom Koch prepared and submitted his FM & M scripts in a numbered order, but the scripts were not dated. These factors necessarily led this writer to list the program titles in the log in the numbered order as submitted to NBC by Mr. Koch. This lack of certainty and precision is obvious when program themes do not always coincide with exact times of the year. For example, the Christmas program for December of 1957 is found in the January 19th time slot, four weeks late. It is assumed that NBC and the Jordans utilized Koch's scripts in an order of their own discretion, leaving this writer with no alternative but to insert the program titles and script numbers into the log in the same order as prepared and submitted by Mr. Koch. The saving grace is that at least interested people will know the number of Fibber McGee and Molly Program broadcasts, the dates, and, with titles, they will know a program content at the approximate time of broadcast.

T382	Scripts 1-150 (first 15 weekends) destroyed in a flooded basement, 1965. Two days of topics are known: "Reincarnated from Great Men" and "Fibber & Molly Reminisce".	6/1 6/2 6/8 6/9 6/15 6/16 6/22 6/23 6/29 6/30 7/6 7/7 7/13	Premiere of 5 part (5 min.) NBC Monitor FM&M Programs broadcast on Saturday and Sunday, June 1st 1957 to August 2nd 1959. Air time ranged between 7:25 am and 10:25 pm, also at 11:30-11:45 pm according to NBC archives (NY). Except in the last few weeks, only Marian and Jim Jordan performed, as Molly and Fibber (see notes July-Aug. 1959). Teeny was continued in the cast by Marian in one or two of the five parts of each program. Occasionally Doc Gamble was referred to but never appeared. All of these Monitor programs were written by Tom Koch and produced by Mike Zearner (MZ). Soundman was Cliff Thorsness. A special thanks goes to Tom Koch for preserving the only surviving scripts and for sharing them with this researcher making it possible to offer you this final log of the Fibber McGee & Molly Program.
